

Final lane striping on US 93 through Coyote Pass continues Sunday through Thursday

Motorists should expect brief delays and intermittent lane closures

Crews are scheduled to finish applying permanent lane striping on US 93 through the recently paved Grandview Avenue and Coyote Pass sections north of Kingman Sunday, Nov. 4 through Thursday, Nov. 8, according to the Arizona Department of Transportation. Work hours will be 7 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Motorists should expect short delays and intermittent lane closures in the work zone.

This work will complete a $5.2 million paving project that started in fall 2011, which included applying the initial layer of asphalt pavement, repaving of the SR 68 traffic interchange ramps, and installing new curb and sidewalk on Beale Street.

ADOT works to inform the public about planned highway restrictions, but there is a possibility that unscheduled closures or restrictions may occur. Weather can also affect a project schedule.
